SUMMARY: WEB SITE GUIDES NEW STUDENTS THROUGH FIRST YEAR

Orrville, Ohio, Aug. 15, 2007 – The University of Akron Wayne College unveils its Wayne Info Net, or WIN, for the upcoming fall semester. WIN is a Web site designed to answer the common questions of first-year students.

The site, www.wayne.uakron.edu/win, addresses student concerns including academics, technology, student resources, personal and family. Under the “academics” heading, students can click on topics such as What If I’m Undecided About My Major? and Calculating Your GPA. The “personal” section covers Managing Your Hectic Schedule and Money Matters, just two of the areas about which students frequently have questions.

Traci Carmony, admissions counselor, was a member of the WIN committee. “We recognize that transitioning to college life is not always easy. The WIN site is designed to help students during that important first year and to provide information for family and friends of students,” says Carmony. “As a commuter school, our students are coming or going and don’t always get to know everything about Wayne. I think this site is a great tool to make both new freshmen and continuing students more knowledgeable about Wayne.”

Wayne College is a regional campus of The University of Akron, and offers the first two years of general bachelor’s degree courses for students who plan to complete their degrees at the Akron campus or other colleges and universities. The general education transfer program also leads to the associate of arts degree or the associate of science degree. In addition, Wayne College can prepare students for a variety of paraprofessional and technical careers in business, industry and public service by offering a range of occupational education programs. The campus is located at 1901 Smucker Road in Orrville.
